Course Comments

Course materials: Please comment on the course materials - readings, handouts, PowerPoint slides...

- All resources were useful, most of all the in class exercises.
- The materials were extremely well organized and gave practical examples efficiently explaining the material covered on any given day. I specifically found the In Class Exercises to be the most important thing in helping me practically understand the material. Just as an aside i sometimes found some of the slides to be relatively unimportant or convoluted.
- Every material is useful. The most useful is handouts, the least useful is PowerPoint slides.
- The in class exercises were very helpful in understanding the material. Without the practice it would have been difficult to understand all the complicated concepts.

The booklet and slides are also very clear for the most part. There are maybe a few small things missing from what I can recall but overall it was helpful to have.

- The in class excercises were extremely helpful along with the packet.
- Having the course pack was a huge help and made it extremely easy to follow along and study at home. Additionally, the in class problems were very helpful in applying the concepts we had learned in class and allowed me to see what I was confused with.
- The course packet was extremely informative and the in-class handouts were very helpful.

Course content: Which topics and class sessions did you find most and least valuable? What other...

- Options was extremely tough and so was CAPM.
- The topics i found to be most interesting was either CAPM or the Options and Futures class. Given my lack of knowledge in Finance i don't have an educated suggestion on what topics should have been included.
- Everything is valuable. Maybe a little bit more on equity and fixed-income eval.
- I would have loved to go more in depth on some topics, but it was a summer course with limited time making it difficult. The essentials were all adequately covered I felt.
- Every topic I found very valuable as they are all topics I will need to know for the career field I want to go into.
- The most valuable topic for me was the option strategies while the least valuable topic was the time value of money(mainly because I just took FA where we covered most of that content).
- I don't think there were any topics that were not important to the subject. Each day was filled with lots of important information, this may just be because it's a summer course but all days were worthwhile.

- The instructor was very informative and helpful. The only thing she can improve on is making sure all of her class slides are in the course packets.

Other: Do you have any other comments for your instructor or additional constructive feedback...

- Thanks for all the help
- Overall, Professor Jung was a fantastic, patient, and caring Professor. She helped me fully understand the material to the best of my abilities and really increased my interest in Finance.
- Improve clarity and coherence.
- Go over homework's a little more in class.
- Everything was well prepared and stated properly. The environment was structured very well to allow the students to learn.

- I really liked how she asked for feedback on her teaching often. Most professors ask after the class is over, when it is no longer of use to us, but she was very consistent on this so that she could try to understand us better and also help us succeed.
